ISSUE #240 • NOVEMBER 2021 • A PUBLICATION OF THE RECREATION CENTERS OF SUN CITY, INC.

Upcoming Elections, Celebrations & More

There is much happening in the upcoming weeks ahead and the RCSC Board of Directors Elections takes center stage.

There are seven candidates vying for four positions (three 3-year and one 2-year). Those running for the Board are (in alphabetical order): Kat Fimmel, Alan Lenefsky, Karen McAdam, Frank Thorwald, John Nowakowski, Candace Ruggiero and Stella Van Ness. To be elected, candidates must receive a minimum of 100 votes. Should there not be four eligible winners, the Board will appoint another Member to complete the term(s) which remain unfilled.

RCSC Cardholders will have the opportunity to meet and question candidates at two Candidate Forums on Monday, November 1 from 2 to 4pm and Wednesday, November 3 from 6 to 8pm. Both Forums will be in the Sundial Auditorium. Candidates will be available to meet and greet 30 minutes prior to each session. There will live streaming of these sessions on the RCSC YouTube channel (must be a subscriber) and video recordings will be available for those unable to participate "live" or who are uncomfortable attending in person. Other opportunities to meet and speak with the candidates include at the remaining Board Meetings (if candidate attends) on November 8, 18 and December 6 at 9am in the Sundial Auditorium.

Candidate biographies can be found on pages 5 and 8 in this edition of SunViews and are also available at the Corporate Office at Lakeview Center, and via the RCSC Web Portal once online voting begins on Monday, November 8. RCSC Members are encouraged to sign up and use the RCSC Web Portal to cast their ballots online or they may vote in-person on Election Day (Tuesday, December 14) from 8am to 4pm in the Lakeview Social Hall #2 should that be their preference. Absentee ballots may be requested by calling 623-561-4600 starting November 8; the last day to request an absentee ballot be mailed is Friday, December 3; members may also pick up an absentee ballot at the Corporate Office. All absentee ballots must be received by December 14. Those elected to serve on the Board will be sworn in at the Board Meeting on Thursday, December 16 in the Sundial Auditorium.

The next order of business is the 2021 Annual RCSC Membership Meeting which will take place on Monday, December 13, 2021 at 9am in the Sundial Auditorium where there will be a presentation on the 2022 Budget. Other business will be conducted as appropriate should a quorum of at least 1,250 Members be in attendance. Registration will begin at 8:30am and Members must present their RCSC Card with photo for verification purposes.

Most everyone is looking forward to the return of fun and good times as the holiday season approaches, and nothing better can get it started than the return of the best after-Thanksgiving shopping right here at the Sun City AZ Arts & Crafts Festival at Sundial Center on Friday and Saturday, November 25-26, 2021. Over 40 RCSC Clubs will be on-hand with unique, one-of-a-kind treasures for gift giving - or to keep for yourself. (See flyer on page 9 for additional details). This event is free and everyone is invited (face masks are optional).

Your generosity and participation in the "Santas for Seniors" event over the years has been a godsend to those in the community needing financial help. Trees at Bell and Fairway Centers will again have tags to return to the Corporate Office with $25 gift cards which will be distributed to those who have received Sun City Foundation assistance this past year (see page 2 for details).

We're also thrilled to bring back the Sun City AZ Holiday Celebration as we spread glad tidings and much cheer with the return of this community gathering on Friday, December 10 at Lakeview Center from 3 to 6:30pm. There will be new games and fun in 2021 such as Yahtzee and Tic Tac Mistletoe in addition to the mini-golf hole-in-one contest, money tree and the amazing duck race over the waterfall (get your Duck Buck in advance or on the day of the event). Plan on photos with Santa (bring your camera or smart phone) and lots of festive fun as the RCSC Management Team "presents" to you another joyful celebration as we gather to help those less fortunate with all proceeds from this event benefitting the Sun City Foundation. Plan to stay until the very end for the Lighted Boat Parade on Viewpoint Lake at dusk (boats leave Cameo Drive at approximately 6:15pm).

Golfers have one other opportunity to give back to the community by participating in the Winter Celebration "Beat the Pro(s)" Golf Tournament on Monday, December 6 at the South Golf Course. The cost is $40/person (+ green fees on the day of play) and the entry deadline is November 29, with proceeds also going to the Sun City Foundation. Entry forms are available at all RCSC Pro Shops and online via Upcoming Golf Tournament email blasts.

And we have one last gift we'll be giving this season: The "In The Mood" Holiday Music Spectacular on Tuesday, December 14 at 7pm in the Sundial Auditorium. Free for RCSC Cardholders and their escorted guests, you won't want to miss this stupendous stocking stuffer of musical delight!

There is much to celebrate as we continue to move forward into the holiday season and into the new year. Let's enjoy, participate and rejoice with caring for the community and in the spirit of goodness for all.

A Message from Board President Sue Wilson

Let's Celebrate the Change of Seasons

There is much to celebrate and be thankful for. Our brutally, hot weather is behind us and those who spent the summer here are greatly relieved. We did have a monsoon season which caused for some humid days but that also has come to an end. We are still in the midst of the COVID pandemic and though numbers in Arizona remain steady, we do not have a mask mandate at RCSC. We hope our residents follow safety guidelines, get vaccinated as long as your health allows and get booster shots when it is time.

Our second edition of "Sun City in Focus" launched in August with many positive comments. The Communication Through Technology Committee has done a lot of hard work to bring you this virtual production and I hope you have taken the time to view it. Another edition will be coming soon.

Concerts at the Sun Bowl remind us there is nothing better than sitting under the stars enjoying a good musical show - and free to boot. Several food trucks allowed goers to get a sandwich, Kettle Korn, or an ice cream treats. Thanks to all for bringing your RCSC photo card for entry.

Winter residents are starting to return and club rooms are once again beginning to fill up. Hopefully our Canadian Friends will be able to return this year (we've missed you!). Many RCSC clubs are busily working on items for the annual Arts & Crafts Festival that takes place the Friday and Saturday following Thanksgiving. What a great time to start your Christmas Shopping.

The nice weather will be appreciated as golfers are able to comfortably return to the sport in the afternoons. Course maintenance is nearly complete; please be mindful of ongoing cart path restrictions.

The Board of Directors has been back working after summer break and elections are just around the corner. We have seven candidates running for four seats. You're encourage to attend the two

Starting on Monday, November 8, 2021 stop by and take a tag from a tree at either Bell Fitness/Pool or the Fairway Center lobby & return it to the RCSC Corporate Office at Lakeview Center no later than Friday, December 10, 2021 with a $25 gift card (Fry's, Safeway, Walmart, etc.) & we'll share your generosity with those less fortunate.

Thank you for caring and sharing with others in the Sun City AZ community.

candidate forums, both of which will be at Sundial, on Monday, November 1 at 2:00 pm and Wednesday, November 3 at 6:00 pm.

It is easy to get excited for our next eight months of wonderful weather and spending time with all of our winter friends. Those eight months are the reason a lot of you probably moved to Sun City. Let's hope that our pandemic numbers improve and we can get back to enjoying life and friends in Sun City.

Thoughts from a Pro

Align Yourself for Success

Golf is a "target" game, yet many people dismiss the importance of proper alignment. Others attempt to line up to the target but do so improperly. Believe it or not, alignment affects not only direction, but also distance, consistency, and overall contact with the golf ball. How is this possible? If you unknowingly line up incorrectly (let's say for a right hander you line up to the right of where the target is) your brain will still direct your body to swing towards the target. So, essentially you will be lined up to the right and swinging across your body to the left. With the path of the swing coming across your body you have now compounded the problem. You may swing across and hit it to the target.... or in swinging across you may add side spin to your shot causing a cut shot (one that loses distance) or in swinging across it may cause you to hit the top of the ball or even the ground depending on the length of the club you are hitting. The best shots (one that are consistent, solid and have the maximum distance) come from having the alignment and the swing both heading in the same direction!

Let's discuss a good routine with proper alignment.

First, stand behind your ball and find something lying on the ground in between the ball and the target. This could be a divot, leaf, tee, etc. To make it easy, pick something as close to the ball as possible. (Similar to using the red arrows on the lane in bowling!)

Second, walk up to address the ball and position the club behind the ball aiming it in the direction of the spot that was chosen. (Similar to how you would aim your putter towards the hole.) Once it is in place position the hands on the grip.

Third, step the feet in position so that they are parallel to the target line. (Again, like you would position your feet in putting, not aiming them towards the hole but parallel to it.)

Last, make the swing, feeling the confidence you will have in knowing that your alignment is correct, and your swing has a better chance of staying on the right path!

It is my hope that across time the Members can regain their input levels and the Board will be willing to accept the changes just as the Members accepted the increased Board control.

Water Conservation

Future RCSC Water Reduction Efforts Coming Soon

There are more and bigger changes coming to Arizona regarding water usage in the years ahead, and RCSC has been working diligently to meet these requirements as we prepare for the future.

Under the Arizona Department of Water Resources' 3rd Management Plan, RCSC was operating under administrative relief as required due to seepage from Viewpoint Lake (585 acre feet/year). To meet these requirements, turf reduction and irrigation improvements have been made at many Sun City AZ golf course to date.

But more will need to be done as we approach ADWR's 4th and 5th Management Plans which will require further reductions (6% in 2023 and an additional 7% in 2025). This will require RCSC to remove 220 acres of turf (at a cost of nearly $36,000 per acre) to reach the 90 acre maximum turf allocated for 18-hole golf courses. RCSC continues to negotiate with state officials to plan for changes needed.

The total potential cost using current mitigation solutions would include: 1) Replacement of the Viewpoint Lake liner and wall repairs are scheduled for 2022 for a cost of $6 million, and 2) Along with further turf reduction (220 acres) and irrigation replacement and green rebuilds at South and Quail Run (cost $14.5 to $17.5 million). We're also looking at Bermuda Grass replacement and options of effluent water usage from neighboring communities.

It is a big challenge but we're all in this together. Continue your best efforts with personal water conservation (it really does make a difference!), and RCSC will work diligently to comply with legislative requirements in the years to come.

Tips from Get Fit for Life

Does Aging Affect Metabolic Rate?

“According to research, one’s metabolic rate decreases 1 to 2 percent each decade,” states Jane Fortier, fitness specialist with Get Fit for Life. “The primary reason for a slowing metabolism is muscle loss. If one maintains muscle mass with aging, the metabolic rate stays strong. If muscle has been lost, that situation can be corrected with proper exercise. The following information highlights Metabolic Rate by age decades. It points out specific exercise needs, as a person ages.”

Metabolism in Your 20s

Basal metabolic rate is at its highest point. People are active, at their peak with bone mass, and have good muscle strength. Muscle degradation hasn’t yet begun. Twenty year olds have a higher level of growth hormones, which helps maintain muscle size and density. Even without strength training, younger people retain muscle tone.

Metabolism in Your 30s

Major lifestyle changes occur in the 30s. People settle into careers and start families. They get office jobs and juggle more responsibilities. Overall body movement tends to decrease. Decreased movement affects muscle tissue and lean body mass. Less muscle strength and tissue lowers the body’s metabolic rate. During this decade, there is a natural reduction of human growth hormone (HGH), which the body uses to regulate metabolism, bone growth and muscle growth. This age group needs to focus on good nutrition, and exercise, to maintain muscle tone and vitality.

Metabolism in Your 40s

Most people in their 40s start to notice age-related aches, pains and cracking joints, which can lead to a slowdown of activity. Resistance training becomes imperative to build strength and prevent muscle loss. Age-related muscle loss can cause loose skin and fat accumulation. Strength exercise will encourage the firming of muscles under the skin to alleviate both cellulite and sagging, from poor muscle tone. Sarcopenia (loss of muscle mass) becomes a major factor after age 40, with inactive individuals potentially losing as much as 3 to 5 percent of muscle mass per decade.

Metabolism in Your 50s

Attention to muscle mass is critical during the 50’s. Strength exercise is a MUST. But equally important is heart and lung health. This means engaging in cardiovascular exercise. Supplementing a healthy diet and strength training with endurance-based cardio, such as biking, swimming, dancing, running or walking is paramount. As women enter menopause, there’s a decrease in HGH, estrogen and progesterone. This, on top of continued muscle loss, leads to a decline in metabolism and potential weight gain.

Metabolism in Your 60s

Heading into the 60s, the body’s ability to use stored energy slows down, creating a less effective metabolic rate and a decrease in muscle mass. At this age, exercise is of the utmost importance, to keep metabolism revving right. Aerobic exercise, strength training and stretching are a winning combination to combat the physiological changes taking place. Many people experience greater sleep disturbances as they get older. Metabolism is linked to sleep. Poor sleep patterns cause insulin resistance, a condition that elevates glucose levels in the blood and increases the risk of heart disease and stroke.

Metabolism in Your 70s

After 70 years of age, the basal metabolic rate continues to decline, making healthy diet and regular exercise more important than ever. Balance becomes challenging in the 70s, making seniors more susceptible to dangerous falls. A comprehensive exercise program, at this age, should include specific exercises for balance and posture. If someone has reached the 70’s without formal exercise, it’s advisable to find a trained professional to help develop an exercise regimen that would include balance, strength, flexibility and cardio development.

Get Fit for Life personal trainers are experts at developing comprehensive exercise programs that address metabolic rate. Programs are designed to fit individual needs, goals, and medical issues. Personal training services are available at all Sun City Fitness Centers. To find out about services, call 623-696-6820, or visit Get Fit for Life Sun City on Facebook.
