

Good Morning!

GM Comments 12 15 2023

Perhaps all of you are a bit sad this morning, since this is one of the last RCSC meetings of the year. But not to worry, Christmas and the New Year are upon us, and we will have an entire year of more fun and adventure with meetings, halls, and other get togethers, soon.

We do have a lot of motions to get to today, so I will be brief...

In case you missed it we had our holiday extravaganza last Friday at the Sundial Rec Center, which raised almost $5,000 for the Sun City Foundation, and put some holiday cash into the pockets of several lucky participants. Thanks to all who participated, and our wonderful staff that ran the event. And a special thanks to Mike Dirmyer, our esteemed bowling leader, who volunteered to step in and shepard our staff for last Friday's event, and beyond...

We also had record participation in the decorated golf cart tour, with over 100 official entrants. It was much longer this year with half the route on streets and half on the golf course, it took over half an hour to complete, with hundreds lining the route with family and friends.

Coming up tomorrow we have the official opening of the newly relined and refurbished lake at 3:30 at the dock. And there will be 1500 new residents there, in the form of rainbow trout, being added even now as I speak. The boat parade will be small, as many lakefront homeowners have not gotten their boats in yet, but it will be a starting point for future parades.

We have learned a lot this year, in many areas of the RCSC, and plan to use that knowledge to make next year better. With changes to our planning and schedules, with improvements in our communications and timeliness, and adjustments to our staff and organizational structure.

So thank you, Merry Christmas, and Happy New Year! MD RCSC GM
